Soviet Troops On Last Road To Hun Capital

Budapest, was reported by Berlin to have fallen to the Russians.

Nazi reports said Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov has poured nine divisions—135,000 troops—of his First White Russian Army into bridgeheads across the Oder between Kuestrin and Frankfurt-On-Oder, 18 miles to the south, for the climactic assault toward Berlin. Frankfurt lies 33 miles east of Berlin.

U.S. government monitors said German broadcasts placed the Soviets within 25 miles of Berlin. A German Transocean dispatch said the German commander of the Berlin defense zone had ordered "resistance to the last" and was training Berliners in the use of machine-guns for the capital's "biggest hour."

"USE EVERY TRICK"
Transocean said the commander ordered Berlin defended with fanaticism, imagination, "and every deception and trick." Bomb craters and debris left by Allied air raids "may well become a classic ground for close combat with a foreign invader," the dispatch said.

Pravda's front correspondent said the Germans had flooded a vast area west of Kuestrin in a vain attempt to stem the Soviet onslaught. Spring thaws forced the Oder and its tributaries over their banks and Nazi troops increased the inundations by opening the sluice gates of numerous canals.

Masses of Soviet infantry and artillery were reported streaming across German Pomerania towards the Oder in endless columns. All vehicles were emblazoned with "To Berlin" and "To Stalin."

NEW OFFENSIVE
Ernst von Hammer, German DNB commentator, said the Russians have launched a new offensive on both sides of Zinten on the perimeter of the German pocket southwest of Koenigsberg in East Prussia.

He added the customary claim that the offensive had "failed in German barrage fire."

Berlin reports also conceded that the Russians enlarged their bridgeheads across the Oder at Lebus and Goeritz, 33 and 37 miles respectively east of Berlin, in attacks in regimental strength yesterday. One Soviet battle group seized high ground north of Frankfurt, but was driven off, the Nazi account said.

The Soviet high command remained silent on the progress of the fighting east of Berlin, but reported that the Second White Russian Army had jammed 100,000 Germans into a 500-square mile pocket around Danzig and Gdynia on Danzig Bay.

IN DANZIG SUBURBS
Moscow dispatches said the Red Army was fighting in the north and northwest outskirts of Gdynia and in the suburbs of Danzig. Both ports were reported in flames from Soviet bombing and shelling.

The Second Army cleared a 106-square mile enemy pocket at the top of the Polish Corridor and drove to the sea on either side of the Hel peninsula, Gdynia's natural breakwater, yesterday.

Calls For Defeat Of Ontario Tories

TORONTO, March 14.—(CP)—A call to all opposition groups to join hands to defeat the Progressive Conservative administration and form a coalition government was made yesterday by A. A. MacLeod, Labor-Progressive leader, speaking in Throne Speech debate in the Ontario Legislature.

In the face of unanimous non-confidence in its policies on the part of the 52 non-government members the "only honorable course" for the administration is to resign, Mr. MacLeod said. Both the CCF and Liberals had moved amendments to the Throne Speech debate amounting to lack of confidence motions, and his party concurred in this attitude.

Defeat of the government need not occasion an election, Mr. MacLeod said, because there is the basis for an alternative government which would permit the legislature to serve out its time.

He advanced a 14-point program to be followed by the proposed coalition government, stressing Dominion-provincial co-operation in post-war planning and advanced labor, agricultural, health and welfare legislation.

HIGHEST PAID.—Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., New York, paid three artists more than $200,000 each during the year ended Aug. 31, 1944, its annual report to the Securities and Exchange Commission disclosed yesterday. Bette Davis received $241,063, Barbara Stanwyck $223,333 and Rosalind Russell $202,500. James Cagney, described as "A former employee and participant in gross receipts of certain other pictures," was paid $183,652.

DENIED COMBAT DUE TO MISHAP: WINS DAMAGES

NEW YORK, March 14.—(AP)—A former soldier, who contended his injuries in a subway accident while on furlough deprived him "of the honor and privilege of serving his country in combat," was awarded $122,000 damages yesterday in an action against the city-owned line.

Abraham Calderon, 22, Brooklyn, suffered head and leg injuries when he rescued a man from the path of a subway train. His attorney charged the motorman was negligent in failing to stop the train in time.

Set Up Relations

CARACAS, March 14.—(AP)—Venezuela and the Soviet Union have agreed to establish diplomatic and consular relations, a government communique announced last night.

King, Roosevelt In Agreement On Peace Needs

added, "are as firm and friendly as ever."

The discussions also ranged over questions arising out of the Crimea conference at Yalta which are likely to arise at the forthcoming security conference at San Francisco.

"They discussed, in part, the place which Canada will occupy in the new international organization."

Mr. Roosevelt said he plans to go to San Francisco either for the opening on April 25, or for the closing.

Mr. Mackenzie King has already said that he would lead the Canadian delegation at San Francisco but has not named those who will accompany him. He will return to Ottawa before the conference closes.

ASKS OF WATERWAY
James L. Wright of the Buffalo Evening News wanted to know whether the St. Lawrence waterway had come up in the conversations. The President replied it had not but added that he and the Prime Minister have the same point of view: that the St. Lawrence project would be a great asset and the quicker it is built the better.

Buffalo papers please copy, Mr. Roosevelt said in a smiling aside to Wright, to which Wright promptly retorted, "You copy from us." (Wright's paper is opposed to the St. Lawrence seaway.)

No one raised the question of Mr. King's possible selection as chairman of the San Francisco conference although there have been reports that he was prepared to consider an offer of the chairmanship.

After spending this afternoon and evening at the White House, where he continued discussions which occupied him and the President last Friday and Saturday, the Prime Minister was scheduled to leave overnight for New York, where he will spend the day before proceeding to Ottawa.

TEXT OF STATEMENT

Text of the statement which President Roosevelt read to his news conference follows:

During the Canadian prime minister's visit to Washington, Mr. King and the President discussed questions of general international interest as well as those more specifically concerned with the relations between the two countries; relations which are as firm and friendly as ever.

Among other things, a survey was made of questions arising out of the recent Crimea conference and likely to arise at the forthcoming San Francisco conference. They discussed in part the place which Canada will occupy in the new international organization.

The president and the prime minister also had an opportunity of discussing questions of international economic and trading policy which both their countries will have to face as soon as hostilities end. They agreed that the solution of these questions should be sought along bold and expansive lines with a view to the removal of discriminations and the reduction of barriers to the exchange of goods between all countries.

COMMON INTEREST

They recognized a common interest in working toward these objectives.

It was felt that the United States and Canada, with their long experience of friendly relations and their high degree of economic interdependence, should meet the new problems that peace will bring in the same spirit of co-operation with the other United Nations that has sustained their common war effort.

5 of 8 Bodies Now Identified

VANCOUVER, March 14.—(CP)—Five of eight bodies removed from the wreckage-strewn bulk of the SS Greenhill Park which was ripped apart by four explosions in Vancouver harbor a week ago have been identified, David Quigley, city morgue attendant announced last night.

Eight bodies so far have been recovered. The official casualty list issued by the Canada Shipping Company, operators of the 10,000-ton freighter, said two crewmen were missing and the Empire Stevedoring Company announced that six longshoremen were missing after the blasts.

Identified were: Montague E. Munn, 39; William Thomas Lewis, 47; and Donald G. Bell, all longshoremen; and Donald Munn, 54, and Julius Kun, 41, crew members. Missing are Michael McGrath and Joseph Anthony Brooks, and Walter Peterson, all longshoremen.

Ask Understanding On Return Fares For Girl Workers

TORONTO, March 14.—(CP)—W. R. Cambers, representative of Local 321, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (U.E.R.A.), in a statement last night, demanded "simple, clear and unconditional" assurance from National Selective Service of return railway fares for Western Canadian girls employed at the Ajax, Ont., plant of Defence Industries Limited.

He said the girls came to the plant "on the understanding they would get their return fares paid home after six months." A statement Monday by B. G. Sullivan, regional director of Selective Service, gave no such assurance, Cambers said.

2 Women Drowned In Crossing River

ST. BONIFACE, Man., March 14.—(CP)—Two women drowned in the Red River here last night while taking a shortcut across the ice to a theatre in Winnipeg. Mrs. Alex Lamirande, 25, of St. Boniface and her cousin, Georgina Bartlett, 22, of Marquette, Man., fell through the ice and drowned despite effort of their companion, Pat Baker, 25, of Winnipeg, to effect a rescue. Mr. Baker is in hospital recovering from shock.

States People Should Decide Business Form

Lt. A. J. E. Liesemer (CCF-Calgary).

MANY AMENDMENTS
Mr. Low introduced extensive amendments to the original motion, for distribution of co-ops' savings within 12 months of the closing of any one year's operations, and for immediate reform of the Canadian monetary system which would make possible progressive reduction in all kinds of taxation on individuals and businesses. The amending motion specified that if co-op savings were distributed within 12 months after closing of books, they should not be subject to the excess profits tax.

An amendment to Mr. Low's amendment, submitted by A. V. Bourcier (SC-Lac Ste. Anne) was lost on a voice vote. Debate on the amendment was adjourned by Hon. Lucien Maynard, K.C., attorney-general, after members had requested a clarification of its terms.

Mr. Low declared the introduction of the original resolution into the legislature was "one more evidence of political opportunism." He said also it was very peculiar "that we should presume to pre-judge the results of the Royal Commission" which has been inquiring into the co-op taxation question.

NO BRIEF PREPARED

The provincial government did not prepare a brief, nor did it have anyone else prepare a brief outlining the government's stand on the taxation, for submission to the Royal Commission, Mr. Low stated. "If we had taken a position before the commission asking the government not to tax the co-ops and not saying anything about other forms of business, we would have been negating the principles for which this government was elected," he added.

"When we were elected, it was presumed we would represent all the people all the time," the Social Credit leader pointed out. He declared the government felt it was not proper to support one form of business against another, and for this reason had not submitted a brief to the commission.

What the government did was to prepare a statement of its policy toward co-operatives, and this statement was submitted to the commission, Mr. Low said. This was never intended to be taken as the government's views on the taxation of co-operatives.

OUT FOR PROFITS

Mr. Bourcier, moving his amendment to Mr. Low's amendment, declared all co-ops were formed for the purpose of profit. His amendment would have inserted the word "profit" in place of "non-profit" and "overcharge" where these terms occurred in the first amendment.

Mr. Roper objected to Mr. Bourcier's sub-amendment, declaring if it was passed it would "give the lie to every co-op in the Dominion" which has presented arguments to the Royal Commission. The whole basis for their arguments has been the contention that savings are not profits but are savings, Mr. Roper stated. He pointed to a United States supreme court ruling that co-op savings are not in the same class as profits of companies organized for profit.

Mr. Liesemer, joining the debate on the Bourcier amendment, said its passage would state the assembly believes that co-ops serve no function other than those served by businesses.

PREMIER'S STAND

Premier Ernest Manning, the next speaker, said he did not like Mr. Bourcier's sub-amendment and recommended it should be dropped. He discussed differences in use of profits made by co-ops and profits of joint stock companies, stating there was a fundamental difference in distribution of profits of these two types of concern.

W. J. Williams (Veterans-Edmonton) declared "political maneuvering" was taking place on both sides of the assembly over the resolution. He agreed with Mr. Low that the question should not have been raised while it was before the Royal Commission, and said he would not vote on the motion.

Mr. Bourcier's sub-amendment was lost on a voice vote, following which Mr. Roper and Mr. Liesemer both declared meaning of the Low amendment was obscure.

After further discussion, it was agreed that the government would take the amendment back for redrafting, in order to remove ambiguity. Mr. Maynard then adjourned debate on the amendment.

Workers Scarce In Most Trades

OTTAWA, March 14.—(CP)—Shortages of workers exist in almost all occupations, labor department officials said yesterday commenting on a statement by Labor Minister Stettin, who said at Winnipeg Monday that there were 100,000 jobs open in Canada. Of a total of some 96,000 vacancies listed recently, 68,000 were for men.

Expect Details Of Vocational Training Plan

OTTAWA, March 14.—(CP)—Details of a broad-scaled vocational training program to fit both members of the forces and civilian workers for post-war jobs is expected to be announced within a few days.

Scope of the plan was indicated by Labor Minister Mitchell Monday night when in a brief reference to an address at Melville, Sask., he said expenditure of $30,000,000 had been approved by the Dominion government.

Labor department officials said they were unable to release details of the plan immediately.

PERIOD UNCERTAIN

It was not immediately clear what period the $30,000,000 appropriation will cover, but it was assumed it might be for a five-year plan. In the fiscal year ended March 31, 1944, the Dominion spent $5,370,000 on its wartime training program.

Under the wartime emergency training plan some 400,000 workers have been trained for jobs in war plants or as tradesmen for the armed forces. Established vocational schools have been used to a large extent and their facilities have been augmented by training given in industry.

It is expected this plan will be extended under the new program and use also may be made of some buildings now used by the armed forces. More than a year ago preliminary arrangements were made to obtain surplus plant equipment for training purposes when production requirements slacken.

Under a plan already drafted for giving training to members of the forces it is proposed to use pre-employment classes, apprenticeships, correspondence courses, training in plants and pre-matriculation classes.

Five Miles Burned Out Sea of Flame in Osaka Visible for 125 Miles

By E. G. VALENS
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

GUAM, March 14.—(BUP)—A solid sea of flame visible 125 miles away burned out five square miles of Osaka, Japan's biggest war production centre, today in the third great Superfortress raid in five days on the enemy homeland.

A 21st Bomber Command announcement also increased the areas levelled in the two previous mammoth fire raids to 17 square miles in Tokyo, and two square miles in Nagoya.

That made a grand total of 34 square miles of Japan's three largest cities destroyed in the past 96 hours—an area greater than all New York's Manhattan Island in Jersey City.

MADE HOLOCAUST
In the latest attack, more than 800 Superfortresses converted the centre of Osaka, second largest city in Japan, into a holocaust with more than 2,300 tons of fire bombs.

The flames enveloped war plants turning out guns, tanks, explosives and other vital weapons. Ninety per cent of the buildings in the 10-square-mile target area were of wood and plaster construction.

The Osaka raid marked the third major step in the Command's announced campaign to destroy Japan's industrial cities and thus strike a body blow to the enemy's war-making potential.

Osaka, 245 miles west of Tokyo, has 3,250,000 inhabitants, 600,000 of them in the square-mile target area of the B-29's. It is the most densely populated city in Japan.

NEW YORK, March 14.—(CP)—First-day subscriptions to Australia's 100,000,000 Third Victory Loan totalled $17,320,769 ($56,000,000), the Australian News and Information Bureau reported yesterday.

5th Army Clings To Mt. Spigolino

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
ROME, March 14.—(BUP)—American troops held firmly today to Mount Spigolino, 14 miles northwest of Padua, after beating off a German counter-attack and inflicting heavy losses on the enemy.

The 5,000-foot peak was occupied by Fifth Army units over the weekend in an operation to straighten their line in the central sector west of the Plana-Bologna highway.

Another enemy attack was repulsed at an outpost south of San Martino farther northeast. Other Fifth Army units engaged German patrols east of the Reno river, north of Segrate, Verona. German strongholds about 18 miles southwest of Bologna.

Eighth Army patrols clashed with German raiding parties east of Fossò Vetro in the Adriatic sector.

Tank guns and artillery house up a German attack east of the Reno river on the Bassoravilla road, killing 37 of the enemy. The Allies suffered one dead and some wounded.

Edmonton Needs This

Negotiations between the City Council and the Provincial Government, looking to the establishment in Edmonton of a home or institution where juvenile delinquents can be properly dealt with, are apparently proceeding satisfactorily. Committees have been chosen to discuss some details, and there is a prospect that agreement will be reached and the proposal carried through. Every one who has given attention to the problem will hope that this promise may be realized.

The need of some means of dealing with children who go wrong, other than through the police and the common courts, is obvious in every large centre. It is suggested that this need is greater now, because of war conditions, than usual. But the problem is always present in degree, and no city can afford to ignore it.

Young delinquents are not hardened criminals, nor inevitably committed to the status of bad citizens. In all but a minority of cases they can be directed into ways of usefulness and respectability. When that is done, the community gains in moral tone, in the security of life and property—and lower cost of police protection.

This aside, a boy or a girl is worth saving on his or her own account. A home or school directed to this purpose would be an asset to the community and an expression of wholesome human interest in the young folks as well.

Vocational Training

Thousands of boys left school to enlist in Canada's fighting forces or take jobs in war plants. Thousands more gave up apprenticeships. Thousands more had given up school when war came but had not started to learn trades.

These young men have spent up to five years or more in uniform. They have lost touch with civilian conditions, and in a host of cases cannot go back and start where they left off, because of age or for other reasons. It would be grossly unfair to them and by no means helpful to the country to simply turn them loose when the war is over.

The rehabilitation program will take care of great numbers of older men, who had pre-war training in some civilian occupation. But for these younger men special facilities will be needed, where they can learn trades they know little about or complete the learning of trades for which they were headed when the war came along and disrupted their plans.

To provide these facilities, the Dominion Government is proposing a vocational training scheme, country-wide, and in which the provinces are asked to co-operate. The project is estimated to require $30,000,000, and the expenditure has been approved. This was announced by Labor Minister Mitchell at Melville.

As the war is in the final stage, it is to be supposed and hoped that no time will be lost in negotiating with the provinces, and that these will be found ready to join in the good work. The sooner after discharge men can get entered on the training courses, the better.

If It Comes to That

Everyone—perhaps excepting Hitler and his dehumanized Nazis—is hoping that the struggle in Europe will never degenerate into what for convenience's sake is called gas or chemical "warfare." And it won't unless the Fuehrer so orders.

But it is good to know that, should he do so, Canada—like the other Allies—has prepared to meet such attacks; that our troops have all the protective equipment science has been able to devise, and the supplies and facilities to give back in kind more than the enemy can use against them.

This assurance from General McNaughton confirms the general understanding that scientists and technical facilities have been mobilized in Canada to produce both gas and chemicals of fearful potency and in enormous quantities.

It is to be hoped these are types of "weapons" which will never have to be called into service. The more clearly the enemy understands that our men have them, the less likely that they shall have to use them.

It's Their Own Fault

Because we are not Nazis or Japs, people in the Allied countries can derive no pleasure from knowing that people in an enemy country are being killed and wounded even by bombs which are hurled at war plants, railway junctions and other military establishments. Such things are repugnant to the civilized person. They are deeply repugnant to the men whose duty it is to knock these enemy installations out of commission.

But this killing and wounding of civilians in Germany and Japan is inevitable. It is so because the governments there, with the approval or consent of their subjects, have made it so. It is the fault of Germans and Japs that civilians in those countries are suffering death and injury from Allied bombs. They started the war.

They started the bombing. They built munitions plants and other war establishments in residential areas, perhaps for convenience sake, perhaps thinking they would there be immune against attack by the air forces of the "soft" democracies.

The enemy air forces would be bombing London and Honolulu still, in all-out and indiscriminate fashion, if they could. The Luftwaffe is, in fact, still bombing Britain to the full measure of its capacity, largely by the use of flying bombs which simply fall where they may. Thus during February 84 civilians were killed in Britain, and 1151 others wounded, by air attack. The record for January was far worse. These figures would have been a thousand times as large if Berlin had been able to make them so.

Moreover, the Germans and the Japanese know who to blame because bombs are still falling on their populous centres. They have lost the war. To continue to fight is senseless. They can stop the bombing and the carnage whenever they choose to take charge of their national affairs, deposit their bloody-minded masters, and ask for peace.

Fifteen square miles of Tokyo were swept by fire when 200 superfortresses made a bombing raid, and 50 other planes burned 5 square miles in the heart of the Nagoya industrial district. Koiso can do some enlightening calculations as to the results to be expected when 3,000-plane raids are shifted from Germany to Japan.

The Road to Mandalay has been cut by a British armored force. Chinese and Indian troops have also cut the roads leading north and northwest. Instead of "paddles chinkin'" the Jap garrison is hearing the whirr of Allied planes and the crash of bombs. With these variations, the re-conquest of the place seems likely to follow the former pattern.

Six thousand Allied planes swept over Germany in a single day last week, and the bombing goes on day and night, as it has been for three weeks. That explains why some RCAF air-crew men have to be called back from the reserves into active service. Flying men "over there" are reaching their quotas of operational flights in record time and unprecedented numbers, and these have to be replaced.

"Out He Goes"

Editor, Bulletin: Is Canada really in this war to a finish? General Peckers' classic saying that "No man should wear the King's uniform unless he is willing to wear it anywhere," and his activity re-drafts, have not found favor at Ottawa. Out he goes. Our Dominion is becoming a by-word among the Allies.

Any Difference?

Editor Bulletin: I have heard quite a bit recently concerning our soldiers and their gratuity money. I also don't think it is fair to our men overseas on the battlefronts who are suffering every hardship. If the men here haven't done any fighting, get the same gratuity. Some may think that the men here are doing their bit. But if they really wanted to do some fighting they would do as my husband did, and get a transfer into an outfit that was really going into battle. I can't see how these wives of servicemen here can expect the same gratuity as we get when we have had to face these years alone, knowing that any day we might get some bad news and their heroes are still getting home on week-end leaves.

It certainly isn't the same kind of a bit that my husband who has been through France, Belgium, Holland and now Germany, is doing.

GRATUITY ANXIOUS.

Women's Stockings

Editor Bulletin: For the last month or two, no one seems to be able to buy stockings except people who have lots of leisure. There are line-ups in nearly all stores and no one will tell you how long it will be before the stockings go on sale, therefore, if you are working in a store, or you have babies, or you are ill, you have not a chance in the world to get a pair.

Why are they not rationed, thus making it more fair? Lots of women are selling them for more than they are worth. Because a young woman can't get to them herself, she will willingly pay from 25 cents more and up.

Something surely should be done. Liquor was rationed and it was not a necessity, while stockings are.

So again I ask you if you cannot do something about it? I have four young women around me who have babies and they can't just get down to stand in line. Older women in my club are too old to stand in line, and they can't go out without stockings. Please do something about a more fair distribution.

Edmonton. MRS. M. B.

Parting Thoughts

Editor, Bulletin: If I should pray as a mother who has given her beloved son to the great machinery of war, I would do so by memory combined with creative thought.

First my thoughts would be of the victims in prison who are to die at dawn, victims because in their youth their parents were indifferent to the life God held them responsible for.

Strange that the few remaining hours of a misspent life will gratefully be lived with a friend of God's of the clergy. Strange, horrible thoughts must beset the mentality of the victim of circumstances as he suddenly realizes that the end of all life directs to God. Perhaps he is unable to realize that such is also the beginning. But how could he know that which he had never been taught? How could he know, while living in a world of all that goes to show how much we are in need of an education system for the adult. As I can see it, he is just trying to start a civil war.

I fully agree with the intelligent gentlemen who spoke against the resolution. What good would it do to take something away that you have never had? Most of these Zombies are there boys, and have never voted in their lives. And again, they are not to blame for this war. It's older men and women who have neglected doing anything about it, by sitting by their firesides, just talking and complaining how terrible it all is, instead of them getting busy years ago and making this Canada of ours a fit place to live in.

It's a disgrace the word Zombie was ever used against our NKMA boys. I would think when it comes to real Zombies, there are more walking around that have never had a uniform on, and they are the ones doing the most complaining.

I would like to say the same thing that one General said after the last war: "If I had to lead men into battle again, it would not be mere boys, but men over 30 years of age." They are the ones we must battle against. These are the real Zombies. They stay home under the pretense of being too old and being key men, but their mouths are never shut. Yes, let's have total war, conservation of wealth and industry, and these men and women (and I mean all ages) as one of the uniformed heriboned soldiers suggested, and I guarantee the war would be over inside of a month.

Take the profit out of anything and see how long it will last. Let's have everyone on army pay at $150 a day, with a subsistence allowance, and I do not mean $20 to $35 a day, as so many of these dollar-a-year men are receiving. This would be true patriotism and equal sacrifice and would be the best news yet for the boys overseas and at home.

There is more than one side to the story, and a lot of us just don't believe in killing, and these boys being brought up in Christian homes, by parents who have taught them the Ten Commandments. Let's forget one of these commandments is "Thou shalt not kill."

For MacKinnon

Editor, Bulletin: In attacking the Hon. Jas. A. MacKinnon, Mr. Burrows has ruined what little chance there ever might have been for the Progressive Conservative party to make any headway in this city. The Hon. Jas. A. MacKinnon has done more for the people of Edmonton and district, individually and collectively than any representative we ever had at Ottawa.

With the usual political baloney with which we are all too familiar Mr. Burrows spends most of his speaking time criticizing other political parties. What good thing can ever be said for any past Conservative government in Canada?

The Rt. Hon. MacKenzie King has made mistakes, we are all willing to admit that, but the man who never makes a mistake is not yet born and I attempt to saddle our good friend Jas. A. MacKinnon with responsibility for those mistakes as if he were a Conservative.

Now to give Mr. Burrows a dose of his own medicine. In the first place what is a Conservative? Albert Edward Wiggan gives a most apt definition when he writes—"A Conservative is one who believes that nothing should ever be done for the 'progressive'." To add the word "progressive" to the title is mere camouflage, to be progressive one cannot be a conservative.

Young people, note that. We older people have not forgotten R. B. Bennett, excuse me, Viscount Lord Bennett (who incidentally gets his money out of Canada and spends it in England) with his "prosperity just around the corner", his advice to university students not to be so "choosy" but to be satisfied with pick and shovel with which to earn a living, his admonition to tighten our belts and last but not least his bludgeoning of the unemployed at Regina. In the meantime forget Messrs Burrows, Braeken & Co. and stick to The Hon. Jas. A. MacKinnon who has stuck loyally by you.

Gratuity Difference

Editor, Bulletin: I have been back from Overseas a little over two weeks and have noticed, with dismay, several letters complaining about the gratuities offered by the government to ex-servicemen.

These chaps, who did service in Canada feel they are being unfairly treated since they receive only half the gratuity their buddies receive for service Overseas.

As it was explained to me, the gratuity is to help our boys readjust themselves in civil life and, as the word itself suggests, it is a gift for services rendered. With this in mind it seems to me the boys who went Overseas, through no fault of their own deserve more than the boys who kept the home fires burning. Probably some "Battle of Canada" type would ask "Why?" Well I can explain very simply.

Regardless of where a man is posted Overseas (not including Newfoundland) he spends more money and gets less for it. I can only talk of England and conditions are much worse elsewhere. No one can deny a man or woman an occasional leave. As any repatriated serviceman will tell you, a leave in England is an expensive proposition. The pound will buy less than a Canadian dollar. So a man Overseas is spending $4.47 and getting the value of $1.00 while the other man is spending a $1.00 and getting almost its full value. Who then can save for his post-war readjustment?

This may seem a foolish argument, but it is a fact. Most men discharged from service in Canada have a tidy sum saved away.

Thinks Germans Eager to Quit

Looks for Sudden End in War Against Nazi Aggressors

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

As news from Germany trickles through, it is clear that the situation is not what we expected to find, and it seems likely that the war will not end as expected.

We have anticipated that the Nazis would retreat to the Bavarian Alps, and from there continue organized resistance, assisted by guerrilla warfare. This possibility has been weighed by the Allies.

But the assumption for such a form of war is the support of the majority of the population. The astonishing indications, which now come in daily, are that the Nazis have no such support. The population is not only ready, but eager to quit. Both on the eastern and western fronts when they see that they are not going to be massacred, as they were told by the Nazis, the people are co-operative with our troops, dole, and in places so welcoming.

that our own non-fraternization orders simply cannot be maintained. Furthermore, as the Nazi grip relaxes, we shall find an extensive underground anti-Nazi movement in Germany. That cannot yet be seen from the reports of correspondents, but it has already been discovered by our authorities. This I have never doubted. The theory of the solidarity of the German people behind the Nazi regime is due to the total inability of persons living in free countries to understand the nature of a totalitarian order and the complete impossibility of overthrowing it without outside armed aid.

The joke, however, will be on the Nazis—if they themselves could not know the real state of mind of the population until our troops came in. They certainly knew there were strong opposition camps, or they would not have had the Gestapo, SS, the concentration camps, the hangings, the universal terror. But once the war began they counted on the national spirit against foreign foes, trusting it to be stronger than the opposition. There is also this disadvantage to a totalitarian state—the opposition has to be secret and as shrewd in self-protection as its oppressors.

So it is not only we who have been watching the behavior of the population as our troops advanced. The Nazis have been much more interested. No matter what the reaction of the people, we shall finish the war as planned. But how the Nazis would finish the war depended upon the behavior of the people. There is no possibility of successful guerrilla warfare except with popular support. If the people want peace at any price, guerrilla warfare is a most dangerous activity for the Nazis themselves. By engaging in it, they expose themselves as Nazis. They divide themselves from the population and make it easy to single them out.

Now, if this program of continuing the war by other means when organized armies collapse is abandoned for lack of popular support, what alternative have the Nazis? Only to disappear in the population—in conditions of general collapse. This instead of continuing resistance "till the last dog is hung," the dogs will wish, at a certain moment, to bring about a complete end of resistance under conditions most favorable to themselves. Those conditions are chaos, streams of refugees, whose identities cannot be verified, destruction of all state and party files, the outfitting of themselves with false identification papers, and disorderly break-up of the armies, in contrast to orderly demobilization.

Dr. Goebbels' last article in "Das Reich" seems to confirm this outlook. For the first time the leading Nazi propagandist does not foresee a protracted war and a defense of every corner of the Reich but says "the war has already exceeded its climax and will lead up to a furious in its final phase, ending suddenly and rashly." Even if he tries to create the impression that this ultimate end will be in German victory, he certainly knows otherwise, nor will any German reading his article believe that it is anything but a particularly horrible before the regime disappears. In practical terms the article means a furious to promote disintegration and chaos—and a sudden end.

This is the natural consequence of the behavior of the German people—the white flags decking the houses of Duisberg—clearly visible, incidentally, from the other side of the Rhine. It precludes any plan for continued resistance for months.

But it will also require reconsideration of our own plans. Not only the punishment of the German people has begun long ago, but their re-education also. The education of a nation is not the result of preachments, but of experience. Hitler's thousand years' Reich will have the shortest tenure of life, of all three reichs to date—a brief, almost instantaneous explosion of history—braving nothing but total catastrophe.

Have you seen the Channel Islands? Those lush, fairyland-like, quiet places between England and France where so many pensioned Britishers used to go to live on and on, and where some of the finest breeds of dairy cattle originated?

It is sad to know the unhappy state of those once pleasant bits of land. Yet it is only a matter of time when some morning the sun will break through the morning fog and light the Union Jack over Guernsey, Jersey and Alderney. Perhaps that day will be in Spring when soft green colors the meadows and the ancient houses have their mildest look. Then may the good people of the battered Channel Islands live happily forever after.

Sometimes, of course, patients become entangled in various little skirmishes between themselves; these were quickly separated by watchful nurses, and their minds directed in other channels.

I would like to state also that the food given them was of the best, comparing favorably with the quality served in our best restaurants of today without war restrictions.

Also our huge stocks of fresh bed-linen and clothing always ready, made our work a pleasure.

Our late Magistrate Murphy, after one of her rigid and periodical inspections, once remarked to me: "We do not realize the happiness of the insane."

A woman of uncertain vocal attainments deemed it her vocation not merely to lead but also down the efforts of the village choir. The choir rose in protest and asked the vicar to inform the offender that she must sing more in harmony.

Calling on her as soon as he could brace himself up for the unpleasant duty, the vicar said blandly: "And now, Miss R., I have been asked to say a word or two about your singing—"

"Don't mention it," the chorister broke in. "Not to me be the praise—it's a gift!"

Stranger: "Did you see a pedestrian pass here?"
Local: "No, I've been here all afternoon and not a thing has passed me except one man, and he was on foot."

Only Seven Points To Go

Lach Now Can Concentrate On Setting Scoring Record

MONTREAL, March 14.—(CP)—Elmer Lach, play-making centre of Canadiens, Richard-Lach-Blake line, has first place in the National Hockey League scoring race virtually clinched and he can concentrate from now on in an effort to establish a new point record for the season.

The weekly NHL scoring lists confirmed that Lach has set a new assist record at 51, two above the figure set by Clint Smith of Chicago a year ago, and has run his point total to 76, just six off the mark set last year by Herbie Cain of Boston.

Lach has a six-point edge on line-mate Maurice Richard, despite Richard's record 48 goals, and a 12-point margin on Toe Blake and Bill Cowley of Bruins.

Gil Dodds Says Haegg Has Done As He Expected

BOSTON, March 14.—(AP)—Don't sell Gundar Haegg short. That's the advice of another great runner, Gil Dodds, holder of the 4:06.4 indoor mile track record.

"What Haegg has done on the indoor boards to date is just about what one should expect after 23 days on a boat," said the flying preacher.

"Remember long John Woodruff. He had a nine-foot stride, somewhat similar to Haegg's eight or 8½-foot stride, and he found it difficult to get going on the boards."

"When Haegg learns to control his stride on the boards, take curves, and the art of leaning on the indoor track, I think you'll find him right on form."

"Running on the timbers is entirely different from covering the outdoor cinder paths. One has to train his legs to the wood. The hard surface ties up the muscles of an outdoor runner."

FLIN FLON, Man., March 14.—(CP)—Moose Jaw Monarchs captured the Saskatchewan juvenile hockey championship last night, defeating Flin Flon Bombers 3-2 to take the two-game total-goal series 14-5.

Roy Lovett notched all the Monarch counters on passes from Gordon McMillan, while Gordon Luck clicked for both Bombers' goals.

Today's Sport Parade By Jack Cuddy

NEW YORK, March 14.—(BUP)—Branch Rickey jumped as if the French phone in his hand had bitten his ear. His pince nez spectacles almost plopped off his nose. He barked into the phone, "What's that operator? What's that? Why, that can't be—"

Then the mahatma of Montague street remembered suddenly that he was in beautiful burough of Brooklyn and president of the Daffy Dodgers. He wilted back in his desk-chair and said resignedly, "Alright, operator. Okay. Thank you."

Like a modern shepherd, Deacon Rickey had been using the telephone to gather some of his players into the flock that will go to Bear Mountain, N.Y., this afternoon for spring training. It was a person-to-person call to Hovie Schultz, bean-pole first baseman.

MAY BE CONFUSED

THE reader may be confused momentarily by reference to Schultz as a first baseman. The reader will be perfectly correct in recalling that Hovie Schultz of St. Paul received nationwide publicity this winter as centre of the Hamline basketball team. Some of the sports writers labelled him the "stormy petrel" of the league season; he caused such a ruckus with the Amateur Athletic Union.

The Schultz-AAU trouble started when Hamline's quintet came to New York to play city college at Madison Square Garden, Dec. 28. The Hamline Piped Pipers held a practice session the day before the game. One of the New York writers, watching the practice, said, "say—that gangling goon out there at centre looks familiar." A Brooklyn writer went further. He said, "why—that's stretch Schultz who plays foist base for the bums."

Nat Holman, city college coach, disapproved of Schultz's presence in the Hamline's lineup, but rather than call off the game, city college got special permission from Dan Ferris, secretary of the AAU to play against Hamline. This special permission was obtained to prevent the city college players from losing their amateur standing through competing against a team that had a professional baseball player in its lineup. Hamline beat city college 47-42, aided by Schultz who scored 11 points. After this contest, the AAU got busy and—as we recall—took away the amateur standing of all teams that had played against Hamline "without special permission." There was quite a fuss.

RE-CLASSIFIED A-1

FIRST baseman Schultz, a bona fide student of Hamline (during the off-season) received much publicity. Whether this publicity needed his draft board, we do not know. Anyway, Schultz—who stretches up six feet seven inches—was reported last week to have been reclassified I-A. Previously he had been in 4-F because he is one inch taller than the army and navy limit of six feet six.

Branch Rickey undoubtedly was highly interested in these re-classifications reports when he put in his person-to-person call for Schultz at St. Paul. And Branch was naturally flabbergasted when the long distance operator reported, "Sorry, but Mr. Schultz is on his honeymoon."

That's all there was. There wasn't any more. That was the sum total of his information about mysterious Hovie—a professional first sacker, amateur centre former 4-Fer, reported 1-A'er, and brand new, headstrong—about on the eve of spring training.

Rickey finally sagged back in his chair—just a "Branch" on a tree that grows in Brooklyn.

Former Prisoner Of War Practices With Senators

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP)—Less than a year ago, Lieut. Bert R. Shepard, Clinton, Ind., was a prisoner in Germany. Tuesday, part of one leg off, he practiced with Washington Senators.

After a three-hour workout, his right leg amputated below the knee fell only a little sore," and Shepard had convinced himself that he can get around pretty enough.

Before the war, Shepard, a five-foot-11, 180-pound northwestern pitcher and fast baseman, played in such minor leagues as the Wisconsin State, Evangelical and California State.

If Pete Gray, one-armed outfielder, can make the big leagues with St. Louis Browns, Shepard sees no reason why he shouldn't help out during the manpower shortage, whether he plays in the majors or minors.

Buffalo, Cleveland, Hershey, Pa., already have qualified. Podoloff said, with Pittsburgh and Indianapolis fighting it out in the final weeks' schedule for the remaining place.

Postpone Action Re Proposed Levy On Racing Meets

VICTORIA, March 14.—(CP)—The British Columbia legislature's municipal affairs committee decided Tuesday to postpone for a year any action on a proposal that municipalities be permitted to tax running horse racing meets up to a maximum of $500 a day.

The tax was proposed by the British Columbia Union of Municipalities. Reeve R. Grauer of Richmond, supporting the tax, said at present race tracks in his municipality were taxed only as first land and the municipality lost money by having to supply such services as police, highway upkeep, health and hospitalization.

Council for race tracks said companies could not pay such a tax and offered to have banks examined by a provincial auditor to ascertain if the tax could be paid.

District News In Brief

Overseas Fire Warden Describes Havoc Spread in Bombed England

LLOYDMINSTER: Anyone who doubts the ability of the British people to "take it," would have such doubts quickly dispelled after a conversation with Civilian Fire Warden Ted Black of Lloydminster who has returned here after seeing service overseas since August, 1942. He has a fund of stories dealing with that side of the war picture seldom touched upon by returning soldiers and airmen.

After fighting monstrous fires, seeing billowing smoke and hungry flames leaping hundreds of feet into the air, hearing the rush of over-worked fire engines and the wailing of sirens, he recalls as his greatest thrill, the destruction of Nazi aircraft responsible for so much of the damage.

GET WORSE

Each successive enemy bomb was worse than the preceding one. The first bombs dropped on England buried themselves in the ground and blew out an immense crater. Later types, such as the V-2, exploded on reaching the ground. The first type could knock over 30 or more houses; later types ruined 400 or more at a time. In his opinion, four or five V-2's would make Edmonton just a pile of debris.

Speaking of the British people, he had nothing but the highest praise. To meet and speak with citizens overseas, one would not realize the trials through which they had passed. The women worked in fields and factories and in many cases turned in an additional 30 or more hours a week on other defence work.

Fire Warden Black, prior to going overseas, was employed as utility man at the Lloydminster United Municipal hospital and for many years was assistant chief of the local volunteer fire brigade.

Red Cross Drive Making Progress

OLDS: The annual banquet to inaugurate the national Red Cross campaign was sponsored by the Junior WA to the United Church of Canada, president, was chairman. He and L. Smith, secretary-treasurer, both spoke briefly. Guest speaker was Lt.-Col. D. H. Tomlinson, Calgary, provincial commissioner, who reviewed the last year's work. There were 40 canvassers present.

HARDISTY: The following local officers are accepting Red Cross contributions: president, A. Johnston; vice-president, Dr. G. R. Murray; secretary - treasurer, A.

Ball, work convener, Mrs. V. K. French, and others.

POPLAR CREEK: A box social raised $125 for the Red Cross. Top prize paid for the single boxes was $12.50.

MILLET: The Women's Institute has voted $10 to the Red Cross. E. R. Hookins is canvassing the village for further donations.

STETTLE: W. Dunlap, campaign chairman, is stressing a greater need for support of the Red Cross drive this year than ever before. It is hoped to surpass last year's total contribution of $6,000.

Reject Proposal

WINNIPEG, March 14.—(CP)—Members of the Manitoba Civil Service Association yesterday rejected a proposal for affiliation with the joint council of public service employees, which has been endeavoring to link government and civil workers across the dominion.

Great Benefits Seen in Grants

VANCOUVER, March 14.—(CP)—Family allowances for every eligible child in Canada under 16 years are going to have a great effect upon the health and welfare of all children in the Dominion. Hon. Brooke Claxton, federal minister of health and welfare, told a service club here yesterday.

"Each month the parents will receive $20,000,000 in family allowances," he said. "About $200,000,000 a year will go into Canadian homes where it is most needed."

"I am not exaggerating when I say this is the greatest social security measure ever introduced in Canada or any other country of comparable economic circumstances."

Count Just Mr. De Marigny

By IAN MacNEIL

HALIFAX, March 14.—(CP)—Count Alfred De Marigny, as third officer aboard a Canadian merchant ship, was just plain Mr. De Marigny to his shipmates, and that's what he wants, he said yesterday.

The "Count" who was acquitted in Nassau, Bahamas, in 1943 of the murder of his father-in-law, Sir Harry Oakes, yesterday marched into the Halifax Daily Star office to protest against publicity given him since his ship docked here recently.

Reporters had been looking for him since it was learned during the week-end he was leaving for Montreal to visit his wife, the former Nancy Oakes, daughter of the Canadian-born millionaire. "Don't call me Count," De Marigny said as he came out of the hold of his ship at dock here after he was traced down. "Just plain Mister is good enough for me. I'm no more Count than you are. They call me French, but God knows I'm British enough."

McCoy Health Service

A canned food is a well-cooked food which has been made safe by sterilizing it with heat. No preservation is needed or used. The reason that canned food keeps is that the tin stops any bacteria on the outside from entering and the cooking destroys any bacteria on the inside. As long as food remains free from all bacteria it can not spoil.

Canned foods opened as long as 15 years after packing have been reported to be perfectly sound and of good flavor.

The wholesome quality of the food is not affected by the tin can which is a thin shell of steel coated with tin. Some foods such as the red fruits, orange juice and corn are put up in special cans lined with enamel, as this type of can has been found the best to preserve their attractive appearance.

Canned fruits come in three grades. Fancy is the first grade and means the food is the same as the color, size and ripeness. Choice, or Extra-Standard, is the second grade, and the third grade is Standard which means that the product meets all the requirements for a wholesome food for your table.

Vegetables are graded according to Fancy, Extra-Standard and Standard with the exception of peas which may be divided into as many as fifteen different grades. I recommend canned foods because they are one of the safest foods you could possibly use, and because they contain equally as great a quantity of the vitamins and minerals as the same foods cooked at home on your own stove in an open vessel. In many instances, these canned foods actually are richer in minerals and vitamins than home-cooked foods.

Canned foods fill a special need during the winter months by providing many attractive non-starchy vegetables at a time when the local market supply may be limited. I suggest that readers follow the same advice which I have given patients in my private practice and use the canned vegetables freely.

You will want some of the following upon your kitchen shelves: small peas, green lima beans, spinach, small beets, carrots, string beans, asparagus, tomatoes and okra. Canned tomatoes are another wholesome product and incidentally a good source of vitamin C. The canned tomato juice and puree are also excellent items. The canned vegetables especially prepared for infants are a great help to mothers.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address: McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Most Captured German Soldiers Happy to Get Away From Battle

The bulk of German soldiers and officers captured on the Western Front at the present time are glad to be out of the conflict, Capt. J. S. Speakman, 10216 78 street, who was officer in charge of war prisoners in France, Belgium and Holland, said here Wednesday.

He is visiting his wife and four children during the course of a tour of duty in Canada. After leaving Edmonton he will be posted as instructor at Debert, N.S. A member of the Canadian Provost Corps, Capt. Speakman declared the prisoners are no longer difficult to deal with. There are exceptions, such as Hitler's SS men, but few of them are captured alive. He had little respect for the highly-touted Gestapo, who, he said, fought only until things got tough.

BAD ACTORS

"It's the SS men we have to watch," Capt. Speakman said. "They are definitely bad actors." In addition to his war prisoner work, he was engaged in traffic control. He is lavish in his praise for the manner in which traffic was organized in the D-Day operation. The beachhead organizations looked after traffic in the initial landing process and "we took over from there," he said. The officer's brother, Lt. Col. A. F. Speakman, served with him in the same provost company.

Other relatives in uniform include a nephew in the artillery in

CAPT. J. S. SPEAKMAN

Italy, a cousin in the RCAF overseas; another cousin in the American nursing services, and a cousin in the RCAF (WD) at Calgary.

He was born at Red Deer and educated at H. A. Gray and Victoria High schools here. He was employed at the local C.P.R. depot prior to enlisting in The Loyal Edmonton Regiment in 1939. He went overseas in December that same year, and transferred to the Provost Corps.

$72,062 Donated In City, Country For Red Cross

A new total of $72,062.28 was announced Wednesday as the amount received to date by the Northern Alberta campaign committee in the Dominion-wide Red Cross drive to raise $10,000,000 by March 31. With about two and a half weeks to go, there must yet be collected about $105,938, before last year's Northern Alberta total of $177,000 is reached.

Officials this year are hoping to surpass that mark by a considerable margin.

Broken down, Wednesday's figures revealed that $34,679.32 has been received from the city, and $17,282.96 from surrounding districts.

According to figures compiled Wednesday, Edmonton's per capita donation to the Red Cross campaign is 58 cents, as compared with a per capita donation of $2.37 at Clyde, and figures ranging from 81 cents to $2.05 in a number of other Alberta points.

TOTAL AMOUNT

The figures were reached by dividing the total amount of cash received at campaign headquarters from each district, by the approximate population of those districts. Here are some other per capita donations: Chauvin, 58 cents; Andrew, $1.43; Hughenden, $1.36; Irma, 91 cents; New Norway, $1.08; Barrhead, 81 cents; Loughheed, $2.05. The Edmonton figure is based on a population of 33,817.

In Wednesday's donation list, largest contribution recorded was $2,000 from Slick's Edmonton Brewery. Safeway Stores gave $550; Burns and Company Ltd. and employees, $1,750; Edmonton City Dairy, Ltd., $250, and Scott Fruit Company, $250.

OTHER DONATIONS

Other donations of $100 or more were received from John Deere Plow Company, Palm Dairies Ltd., staff of the Bank of Toronto, Campbell Furniture, National Fruit Company, staff of the Motor Car Supply Company, Edmonton Stockyards and employees, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. de Wynter, Edmonton Credit Company and Weber Bros. Agency, and Dr. Eardley Allen.

A total of $100 was received from several Edmonton grocery and confectionery stores.

District donations included $1,421.15 from Telford, $1,340.83 from Walworth, $500 from Westlock, and contributions of $300 or more from Glendon, Greenacre, Pouce Coupe, Banfill and Waskatenau.

The Inquiring Reporter

What do you think of the suggestions made in the Alberta Legislature that war memorials take the form of hospitals?

THE ANSWERS
GEORGE HILDRETH, clerk: There are many forms that a memorial can take. There are several fine suggestions. There is nothing finer, or more serviceable than a hospital.

SAM MILTON, salesman: I am sure there is nothing that would meet with more widespread approval than to have hospitals as war memorials. They would serve a useful purpose and always remind the public of the sacrifices made by the troops.

HARRY HOLWORTHY, student: Until after the war there is little need to worry much about the form memorials will take. Certainly there is nothing that will remind us of the horrors of war and the gallantry of our fighting men more than hospitals.

Museum of Arts Showing Pictures

Protests Heard

Board Is Undecided On School Smoking

Question of smoking at Edmon-Teen Club functions in Westlen high school auditorium was the subject of intense discussion at the school board meeting Tuesday night, held in the Civic Block.

First Car of Soap Is Shipped For UNRRA By Local Factory

First carload of soap of an order for 1,800,000 pounds for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration has left the North Edmonton factory of Soapstone Products Ltd. It is expected another car will be shipped in a few days and regular shipments will be made from then on.

Recently the Edmonton firm received this huge order from UNRRA for bar soap to be sent to liberated countries of Europe.

Allied Prestige In East Increases

The prestige of Britain and America in India has shown a marked increase since 1942 after reaching an all time low resulting from the fall of Singapore, the Rev. L. T. Quirk, missionary in India for 11 years old members of the Y's Men's club Tuesday night.

The speaker was introduced by his brother-in-law, the Rev. Daniel Young, minister of First Baptist church, and conducted an informal question-and-answer discussion on Indian problems and life.

Mr. Quirk has just returned from India where he recently has been principal of the high school at Coomana.

He said the country was totally unprepared for war when the Japanese threatened invasion in 1942 and said if the Japanese had landed 100,000 troops that spring they might have taken the country in two months.

The greatest barrier to national unity in India is the two main religions, the speaker said.

The highest point in Bataan is Mount Bataan, which rises about 4,660 feet.

Mr. Cormick mentioned that he and his wife had attended a luncheon of the club's affairs and had found an criticism of the functions. He said he thought the club had received a lot of unwarranted criticism.

A. E. Olfendick stated that he considered the age spread in the club 13 to 19 was absurd, and contrary to all known psychology of adolescence.

It was pointed out that some of the youngsters were not arriving home until the early hours of the morning from club affairs but Mr. Cormick remarked that the question of getting home was up to the parents. He said a deadline should be set and he didn't think parents would have any difficulty in getting the youngsters to co-operate.

The club's request for a smoking room to be used at their Friday night functions was not made at a private meeting of the board, it was said, which will be referred back to the next general meeting.

Seventy million tons of coal fall on American cities annually, according to estimates.

Water Rationed, Not Beer: Wells Produce Poorly

Edmontonians who partake of the cup that cheers have been known to grumble on occasions because of wartime rationing. Probably a trip to Fort Nelson, B.C., would cure them of this grumbling habit. At Fort Nelson there seems to be lots of beer, but water, mere water, is rationed.

And believe it or not there's a real stampede for drinking fountain and wash basins when the hourly water "drank" occurs.

Except for 10 minutes every hour on the hour water is cut off from 9 to 11 a.m., 2 to 3 a.m. and 12 to 3 a.m.

The water problem at Nelson has been a tough one to crack.

ROCK FORMATION

Within a radius of several miles of the base a dry strata of earth rock formation exists with very little water.

Prove very deep wells have been drilled but only one is a good miner, and it requires clearing which is now being done.

The U.S. Army air base and RCAF stations there have had to depend on truck tankers, which work round the clock between the river and the stations. About 60 trips daily are made to the river about eight miles away.

And the small amount of water being obtained from the wells possesses a kick all of its own. It is heavily charged with natural gas. It will ignite if a match is struck near the well outlets.

Romantic Influences Lures Business Girl, With Looks, Lots of Money and Clothes Into Harder Task of Marriage

DEAR MISS DIX: Why is the girl with a good job so anxious to marry? She can keep herself on her salary much more comfortably than she can feed a family on her husband's salary, which is usually not proportionately larger than hers was. The single girl doesn't have to give up that new hat because Junior needs a tooth filled.

Maybe the steno may find the turning off of the alarm at 7:30 sometimes gets monotonous, but it is easier than getting up at 6 a.m. to get hubby's breakfast and the children off to school. Pounding the typewriter may be no cinch, but it is a lot less work than cooking and scrubbing and minding the baby from twelve to sixteen hours a day. Housewives rarely get two weeks' vacation with pay in the summer, or a pay envelope at the end of the week. When the boss gets in a bad mood, Mamie can forget it the minute she leaves the office at 5 o'clock, but when Friend Husband grouches she has to take it. So why are girls with good jobs crazy to marry?

Answer: Well, Mamie, it must be love as the old song says. It couldn't be anything else. For the business girl is a realist. She knows what the lad at the next desk to hers is getting and she doesn't kid herself into thinking that on his pay she is going to wear mink coats and spend her evenings at night clubs.

Of course, the girl behind a counter may marry for a meal ticket, but she seldom does. She marries in the full knowledge that she will have to work far harder in the home than she ever did in a shop or office, and that she will have fewer of the comforts and luxuries of life, but she feels that love is worth the price she will have to pay. Any man who gets married now can be very sure that his wife is marrying him for himself and not for what he can give her.

SUCCESS

DEAR MISS DIX: Can a boy without a good education make a success of marriage when he marries a girl who is a college graduate?

ANSWER: He can if he is willing to let his wife help him get an education, but it takes a man with a high degree of native intelligence to be willing to let his wife correct his grammar and pronunciation and teach him how to eat, and the many social graces he has had no opportunity of acquiring.

One of the best informed men I have ever known had little schooling as he had to go to work when he was nothing but a child, but he married an educated woman, who was an inspired teacher, who drilled him in history and literature and politics and science, who taught him the right phrases to use in speaking until she made him a cultured man. But she couldn't have done it unless he had been willing to learn, unless he had been willing to take what she could give him without calling it nagging.

MARRIED MEN

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I was brought up by fine parents who taught me a high standard of conduct, and particularly to be aware of married men, but in spite of all of that I fell in love with one.

After his wife had her baby our romance stopped. I was left broken-hearted and have been miserable ever since. I have learned to hate men because of my experience and find it difficult to work with them. What do married men give girls the sweet talk and treat them so wonderfully that they sweep them off their feet and then dump them flat, leaving the girls wishing they were dead?

Can you give me any advice as to how to forget my past experience, and how to become myself once more?

MISERABLE

ANSWER: The only recipe for curing an old love that has gone bloomy is to get a new one. There is no sense in saying that there will never trust another man because one man has played you false any more than there would be in saying that all apples are rotten because the one at the bottom of the barrel was.

Anyway, what did you expect when you entered into an affair with a married man? You knew he had a wife. You didn't want to be a home-wrecker. So what could you promise yourself except being the Other Woman in a sordid intrigue that would wear out your youth and beauty and keep you from ever having a husband and home of your own and a decent place in society?

You say you can't get over this affair, but you can. Love is mostly self-hypnotism, and if you will just think about him and nursing your grievance against him, you will be surprised at how soon you can forget. Don't let a mistake at your youth ruin your whole life.

Liguori Lacombe Now Independent

MONTREAL, March 14.—(CP)—Liguori Lacombe, member of the House of Commons for Laval-Toronto, said yesterday he has joined the ranks of the Independent group headed by Frederic Desjardins, member for Chateaufort-Saguenay. Since 1941, Mr. Lacombe, a former Independent Liberal, had been the leader of the Canadian party which he founded at the time and of which he was the only representative in the Commons. Independents now total seven in the Federal Parliament.

There was no heat in the house, and in the early morning the breeze was not so balmy. Neither am I. So I got up, closed door and window on the windward side of the shanty and crawled back as far under the covers as I could burrow and shivered. It was too cold to run out in the hall in my—quandary to turn on the heat, and it happened to be the butler's day off—of course we can't ask the

You remember a few weeks ago

I wrote up a hand that George Raape played? Well, I was kibitzing at a duplicate game the other night and, believe it or not, I saw the same play pulled off. This hand really had variations.

The most normal results were when South bid three spades and North bid four spades, even though void of spades. You can see that four spades is cold even though there are five in one hand against the declarer.

One North player went to three no trump and had a small diamond opened. Of course he won with the jack and made five no trump.

Another declarer played the hand at four hearts. East led the king of diamonds and then shifted to a club. North won with the ace and ruffed a diamond, then discarded the other diamond on the ace of spades.

But the play I want to tell you most about is the fellow who got into three no trump and the king of diamonds was opened and then a small diamond played. North won with the queen and without batting an eye led the deuce of hearts. Believe it or not, East failed to put on the ten. Dummy's eight spot held the trick and this declarer made five.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDER

Development takes place along pretty stereotyped lines. Children begin to sit up at about the sixth month, though some may sit up earlier and some much later without it being a matter for concern. Children may walk at 10 months or at 15 months and the variation is within normal limits. They may teeth at four months or at ten or twelve. What is most important is the whole state of the child's health, not the month at which these physical activities become manifest.

But, when a child is far beyond the age for walking, talking or teething there should be an end to the parent's equanimity. She should be up and about discovering why a child with apparently good health is unable to do the things younger children can do easily.

Mrs. E. R. would seem to have real reason for concern. "My son will be 19-months-old this month and he doesn't walk alone. He seems to feel afraid but will walk all over so long as someone holds his hand."

"He isn't a fat baby but is normal weight for his age. He has always suffered from eczema since he was 3-months-old. He has never had cod liver oil or orange juice. He has always had a substitute for milk. He has cut 16 teeth, though, and I was told his eczema would improve after he has all his teeth. It bothers him very much. He hasn't slept a night through since he was born. There are days when he doesn't eat very much. How can I help him to learn to walk alone?"

Only by providing him with all the nutritional elements which, by giving strength to his bones and muscles, can you give him the courage to walk alone. He knows he lacks the bony and muscular strength and so he clings to your hand.

Since your boy hasn't been cured of eczema by the diet you have used so long it would be wise to try to improve it. Forget the teeth. Your child has a sensitivity to milk and perhaps to other common food he eats. Until their form is changed, or he develops an immunity to them, he will have eczema or one of the related allergic ailments. Your baby might now be able to take some processed milk, or goat's milk, boiled or evaporated, and if not orange juice or pineapple or tomato juice then a synthetic form of vitamin C called ascorbic acid. In addition he must have some type of vitamin D to help store the mineral properties of his food in his bones so that he will develop strength enough to walk independently. Those are your immediate concern. The walking will take care of itself.

Our leaflet, "Eczema and Allergy Diets" may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Here are two delicious recipes which save labor and marketing worries:

BRAUNSCHWEIGER PUFFS

(Serves 6)

One pound Braunschweiger liver sausage, 2 large white onions, 2 cups mashed potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter.

Cut Braunschweiger into 6 thick slices. Peel onions and boil 10 minutes. Cut each onion into 3 slices. Place slices on greased baking sheet. Top each with slice of Braunschweiger, then with seasoned mashed potatoes. Brush with melted butter. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 minutes.

Hash Fritters

(Serves 6)

One-half pound table-ready or home-made pot roast of beef, 1 medium onion, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup bread crumbs, 2 bouillon cubes, ¼ cup boiling water, 2 eggs, 4 tablespoons bacon drippings, 6 slices toast, pickle relish.

Cut beef loaf into small slivers. Add minced onion, salt, bread crumbs and bouillon cubes dissolved in boiling water. Stir and heat slowly to blend. Beat eggs with fork and stir into hash mixture. Heat drippings in a heavy fry pan. Drop spoonfuls of hash into pan. Brown; turn carefully and cook until well-browned. Serve piping hot on toast with a garnish of pickle relish.

Britain and States Seeking Exchange Of War Captives

STOCKHOLM, March 14.—(AP)—Allied governments are making strong efforts to obtain the exchange of as many as possible of their nationals held as prisoners of war in view of the deteriorating situation in Germany where many large camps have been moved under difficult conditions. Britain is negotiating with the Germans through Switzerland for the exchange of 30,000 prisoners, it was reported, while the United States government is negotiating for nearly as many.

Freighter Crashes Wharf at Coast

NANAIMO, B.C., March 14.—(CP)—Between 20 and 25 workers escaped injury late yesterday when a new 10,000-ton freighter from Portland, Ore., crashed into the Western Fuel Company wharf here during a heavy gale.

The vessel had just cleared port and was in mid-stream when caught in a heavy gale and turned around. Workers on the wharf said the pilot called for full speed astern and in some way the "full speed ahead" signal was given. The huge freighter plowed into the wharf and over a scow, its bow rested over the shoreline.

Four tugs attached lines to the ship and after an hour and a half it was taken out into the harbor again. The ship apparently was undamaged but an unofficial estimate placed damage to the wharf at $50,000.

A pile driver and his crew and wharf workers jumped to safety when the captain of the vessel shouted to them that the ship was out of control.

French Losses

PARIS, March 14.—(AP)—The French 1st Army, in a seven-month campaign, has lost about 10,000 killed and 32,000 wounded, its commander, Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny, announced yesterday. He described the losses—almost 17 per cent of his effectives—as "very light."

Minute Make-Ups

If you honestly want to clean up a bad skin you must wash your face. Water, lots of it, fruit juices and green vegetables are important in the diet. Sweet rich foods and greasy foods are not for you. Rest, relaxation and exercise, as well as lots of fresh air, will aid in clearing up the "problem skin." Lots of bathing is important. Scrubbing the body vigorously aids in stimulating circulation. And I cannot stress too often or too strongly the importance of keeping the hair and scalp clean. The health of the scalp has a very definite effect on the skin.

"FERDINAND THE BULL" IS NOT A FICTITIOUS ANIMAL

If you imagine that there never was such a bull as "Ferdinand" you are wrong, for this story is based on true incidents, though it does not follow them exactly. About fifty years ago, in San Lucas, Spain, a bull named Lechuzo was trained for the fighting ring. He proved to be a terror in the ring, clearing out the matadors and picadors in a hurry every time. At the peak of his fame he apparently lost interest one day when put into the ring, sat down in the middle and gazed peacefully at the waiting crowds. Then he rose, leaped over the wall and entered the public square where he began to graze on the grass and flowers. He was bought and taken to a wealthy estate where he spent the rest of his life basking in the warm sun, grazing in the fields—and maybe smelling flowers as a pastime.
